

Setting up the app

The app that runs your Keyless Solutions lock

For the KS150, KS150-BKP, KS200, KS250, KS280, KS300 and KSL.

Your lock is run by the TTLock app. It is free, it is the app the lock is built to work with, and it does the job. It is not a Keyless Solutions app and we do not pretend otherwise.

You do not need the app to use the lock. A code on the keypad works without a phone anywhere near it, and so do a card, a fingerprint or the mechanical key on the models that have them. The app is what lets you hand out codes, see who came and went, and change access without changing hardware.

BEFORE YOU START

Have the lock powered up with fresh batteries, stand beside the door, and turn Bluetooth on. Adding a lock only works within Bluetooth range: you cannot do it from the kitchen.

IF YOU ARE THE INSTALLER, READ THIS ONE

Add the lock to the OWNER's account, not your own. If you add it to yours, they cannot add it at all, and the only way out is a factory reset that wipes every code and every card. If you have already done it, delete the lock in your app while standing beside it before you leave site.

A. Find it in the store

B. Make an account

C. Press the plus

Adding the lock

- 1 Install TTLock
Search the App Store or Google Play for TTLock. It is free. Apps with similar names are not the same thing.
- 2 Make an account
Register with your own email or phone number, and set the country to New Zealand. This account IS your ownership of the lock, so use one you will keep.
- 3 Stand beside the lock
Turn Bluetooth on. Press the + in the app, choose Door Lock, and the app searches. Your lock appears when you touch the keypad to wake it.
- 4 Name it something useful
Front door, not Lock_1. You will thank yourself when there are three of them.
- 5 Check the factory code is dead
Out of the box the keypad accepts the factory code printed in your lock's manual (123456 in the KS150 and KS300 manuals), so anyone can read it. Adding the lock to your app switches it off. Check it has: key that code in and it must be refused.

D. Choose Door Lock

E. Wake it, then tap +

F. Name it

G. Your lock

Giving people access

There are four ways in, and the app manages three of them. The mechanical key is yours to look after. The KSL adds a fifth: a fingerprint.

A code

Permanent, timed, one-time or repeating. A cleaner every Tuesday gets a recurring code that only works on Tuesdays. Send it by text from inside the app. A new permanent code must be used once within 24 hours of being made, or the app suspends it.

An eKey

For someone with the app. Permanent or for a set window. They need their own TTLock account first.

A card or fob

Held against the reader. Enrol each one beside the lock and label it as you go. A card handed over without being enrolled will not open anything. The KS150-BKP has no card reader.

A fingerprint (KSL)

The KSL has a reader at the root of the lever. Add each finger from the app while standing at the lock, and name it as you go, so you can remove one person without touching anyone else.

REMOTE ACCESS NEEDS THE GATEWAY

Codes, cards and keys never need the internet. Only the remote features do, and for those the lock is gateway ready: the Wi-Fi gateway is a separate purchase. It sits inside the house within range of the lock. The KS150-BKP has Wi-Fi built in and needs no gateway.

Selling the house, and getting help

TRANSFER THE LOCK BEFORE YOU HAND OVER THE KEYS

It is the ACCOUNT that owns the lock, not the keys. If you move out without transferring or resetting it, you keep administrator access to a house that is no longer yours, and the new owner cannot add it. Do it in the app before settlement.

Me, Settings, Transfer Lock

If it will not connect

Nine times out of ten it is one of four things. Bluetooth is off. You are not close enough. The batteries are flat. Or the lock is still attached to somebody else's account, which is usually the installer's. Work through those in that order before you factory reset anything, because a reset wipes every code and every card.

STUCK

Call 09 238 2377, or 027 8 ACCESS (222 377). Have the model and what the app is telling you ready when you ring.
